

I have worked for the largest soft drink company in the world for the last 30yrs. We have worked hard to stay on top going head to head with every type of new soft drink and water competitor you could imagine. If I knew that all we had to do to stay number one is to lobby for a no competitive law we could have saved billions of dollars and my hair would not be gray. I understand the need for controls. Control what is harmful not healthy.
